PROFILE

Hi, I'm Jannes, a final-year Communication & Multimedia Design student at The Hague University of Applied Sciences. I design websites and apps based on research and conversations with users, and then build them myself. During my internship at Uon.Earth I worked on an app, onboarding and communication.

WHAT I'M LOOKING FOR

Problems that seem impossible at first are the ones that get me going. And what I can't do yet, I figure out: that's how I started building my own designs. From February 2027 I'm looking for an internship in a team that works on hard problems, isn't afraid to try new technology, and where people make each other's ideas better. What I bring: research, design, and the skills to build it myself.
